Tusco Long Riders on Facebook

Check out the Official Tusco Long Riders Facebook page.

<https://www.facebook.com/TuscoLongRiders>

"Like" the page to stay up to date with the Tusco Long Riders.

Tusco Long Riders Gear

Our new vendor requires a minimum order on our Tusco Gear. So we will be taking orders through October and filling the orders after High Noon at Tusco.

Tusco Long Riders Badges

We are taking orders for Tusco Long Riders badges. They are $65. You can sign up for them at our shoots or contact Buckaroo Bubba at pittfandwr@aol.com. You will pay for them when you receive them. We will make the order after High Noon at Tusco.

Feedback – We would like to hear from you

What do you like or dislike about Tusco? What kind of stages do you like? What kind of door prizes do you like? What do you want to see more of/less of? Any complaints? You are a part of the Tusco Long Riders, we want to hear from you. If you have any suggestions, comments, or complaints, let us know. We can't fix things if we don't know about them. Our goal is to provide a safe day of fun enjoying the sport we all love. Send us an email at: pittfandwr@aol.com for Buckaroo Bubba or lpolsi@yahoo.com for Prairie Dawg. Thank you!

Cowboy Chronicles

We would like to reuse your old Cowboy Chronicles for our future events, Gun Shows, Kame's Day's, etc. You may drop them off at any of our shoots. Please cut off your mailing address or I will do so before they are handed out.

If you have a large number of them please let me know ahead of time that you are bringing them so I can make sure I can get them home

New Category at Tusco

In light of the shortage of reloading supplies we will be offering a “Wild West” Category at Tusco. This is basically an Open Class. Any Guns, Any Style, Any Age. Any SASS Legal Guns and Ammo can be used, including .22 Caliber. This is being offered as an alternative to not shooting at all if someone can't find reloading supplies.

Six Stages

We now shoot six stages at Tusco. A few people have told us that they drive a good distance to shoot at Tusco and would like to shoot as much as possible. Obviously we only have room for five shooting bays. So what we do is shoot the first stage you start on twice. Consider it a warm up stage. Only five stages will be scored. You can take your best time on your first stage. If you don't want to shoot it twice you do not have to. This would provide more shooting for our shooters.

Tusco Long Riders Website

If you haven't visited our website in awhile check it out. I have added some new features, including new photos, a memorial page, lodging information, range release, events page, and feedback page. Also there are some pages that are under construction, like the Club History page, Videos, and F.A.Q. If you know of someone who belongs on the Tusco Memorial page please let Buckaroo Bubba know at pittfandwr@aol.com. Also, I am looking for a photo of Maywood for the page if anyone has one.

Prairie Dawg's Little-Known Facts of Western History

The Arizona Rangers

Tusco shooter Rye Miles picked his alias after Texas-born J. T. "Rye" Miles, who enlisted in the rangers in 1907. Rye Miles was a former cattleman and was 41 years of age when he enlisted.

The Arizona Rangers is an Arizona law enforcement agency modeled on the Texas Rangers. The Arizona Rangers were created by the Arizona Territorial Legislature in 1901, disbanded in 1909, and subsequently reformed in 1957. They were created to deal with the infestations of outlaws in the sparsely populated Territory of Arizona, especially along the Mexican border. The rangers were an elite, well-trained, and originally a secretive agency mounted on quality horses and well equipped with modern weapons at the state's expense. The rangers were very effective in apprehending members of outlaw bands.

In his history of the Arizona Rangers, stretching back to 1861, Arizona State Historian Marshall Trimble revealed "Arizona's first Ranger may have been one of the founders of Phoenix, Jack Swilling." He goes on to discuss the militia groups formed before Gov. Frederick Tritle authorized the first company of Rangers in Tombstone in 1882.

Originally, only one company was authorized, consisting of a captain, a sergeant and not more than twelve privates, but, in 1903, the force was increased to twenty-six men. The rangers, many of whom in the early years were veterans of Theodore Roosevelt's Rough Riders, were skilled horsemen, trackers and marksmen.

Though originally intended to be covert, the group became widely publicized and conspicuous, sported their badges boldly, and were distinctively well-armed.

In addition to dealing with rustlers, and other outlaws, the rangers were called on to deal with several large strikes by Mexican workers at mines in Arizona and Sonora, Mexico. During the Cananea Riot in 1906, over twenty striking Mexicans were killed along with at least two Americans. In response, Captain Thomas H. Rynning led a posse of nearly 300 men to Cananea and was successful in helping the Mexican authorities restore order.

On February 15, 1909, the Arizona legislature repealed the act establishing the Arizona Rangers. During the seven years of its operations, 107 men served with the rangers. The vote to disband was vetoed by Republican Governor Joseph Henry Kibbey, but the Democratic-dominated assembly overrode the veto, backed by political pressure from county sheriffs and district attorneys in northern Arizona.

After the Arizona Rangers disbanded, many of the former Rangers stayed in law enforcement. Harry C. Wheeler was elected sheriff of Cochise County and Thomas Rynning became the prison warden in Yuma, Arizona.

Seven former Rangers reunited in 1940 to ride together in the Prescott Rodeo Parade. In 1955, the Arizona legislature authorized a $100 monthly pension for former Rangers who had served at least six months and who still lived in Arizona. Five men qualified for this pension.

William MacLeod Raine wrote the following about crime in Arizona Territory and the effectiveness of the Arizona Rangers in a 1905 edition of Pearson's Magazine:

“The work assigned to these Rangers was arduous and dangerous one. For many years sheriff's officers and vigilantes had found themselves entirely unable to cope with the lawless bands which made their headquarters in the bad lands. But the condition of affairs had grown unendurable. The temerity of the outlaws was not only a scourge to the community, but a menace to the good name of the Territory. No man's sheep or cattle were safe from the raids of the organized bands of outlaws, who would sweep down on a range, drive away the cattle, reach the mountain fastnesses long before the posse could be organized for pursuit. Raids and murders had become so common that they were scarcely noted. There were a dozen bands of the horse and cattle thieves, at the head of which were such man as 'Bill' Smith, the notorious Augustine Chacon, commonly called 'Pelelo', and the train robber, Burt Alvord. Yet within a year of the time of its organization, this little band of rangers, consisting of a captain, a sergeant and twelve privates, had practically cleared the territory of hundreds of bad characters. Many of them had paid for their lawlessness with their lives and the rest had been driven across the line into Mexico... The Rangers are recruited from old cow-boys and from the ranks of Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders. They have to be able to rope and ride anything on four legs, as their horses may be killed and remounts are at times absolutely necessary. Especially quick work is required in heading fugitives from the border. A crime is reported, the ranger slaps on the saddle and is away. To the credit of the ranger it may be said that nine times out of ten he brings back his man, dead or alive.”
